Introduction

Since October 2014, nurses and midwives trained outside the European Economic Area who are seeking UK registration must pass the NMC test of competence. This test consists of two parts and measures applicants against pre – 2018 standards for pre-registration nursing education and our current standards for pre-registration midwifery education. It assesses the essential professional knowledge, skills and attitudes required for safe and effective nursing or midwifery practice in the UK.

Nursing in the UK is made up of separate and distinct fields of practice, each requiring three years of pre-registration undergraduate education.

The distinct nursing fields of practice are:

- Adult nursing
- Children's nursing
- Learning disabilities nursing
- Mental health nursing

In the UK, midwifery is a separate and distinct profession, requiring three years of pre-registration undergraduate education.

Overview of the test of competence

The test of competence is specific to the appropriate nursing field or midwifery and always consists of two parts. Test blue prints are available on our website with links to online resources which will help applicants prepare for the test of competence. We do not endorse any course or training provider which may offer preparation materials for the test.

Part 1 is a computer based test (CBT). The CBT is multiple choice and can be taken at a Pearson VUE test centre available in most countries around the world.

Candidates will be given a short tutorial on how to use the computer before starting the examination. The CBT comprises 120 multiple-choice questions. All questions are scored as correct or incorrect and there is no partial credit.

The time limit for direct testing is four hours and this includes any breaks from testing, which are optional.

Part 2 is a nursing or midwifery objective structured clinical examination (OSCE) – a practical nursing or midwifery examination. The OSCE can only be sat after successfully passing the CBT and is only available in the UK at a designated test centre. The candidate booklet and details for the OSCE are available from the test centres' website.

Applying for the test of competence

Nurses and midwives seeking registration in the UK should ensure they have read and understand the requirements for registering as a nurse or midwife in the UK before starting the application process.

The test of competence requires candidates to complete an online application process. You can register on our website. Once the NMC has told you that you need to take the test of competence, you can book your CBT with Pearson VUE.

Computer based test

All candidates take the CBT under formal standardised examination conditions in a Pearson VUE test centre.

All candidates are required to adhere to the candidate and test centre rules in the test centre and while sitting the CBT. Please note, that if you do not follow the rules or the instructions of the test administrator (TA), your examination result may be withheld or cancelled, and your examination fee may not be refunded.

The test centre will always inform us if a candidate does not comply with the rules and they may be subject to a misconduct investigation.

Violations of confidentiality and/or candidate rules can result in criminal prosecution or civil liability and/or disciplinary actions by the regulatory body including exclusion from registration.

If you become aware of or witness any attempt to compromise the test of competence, please report it to us. You may report any suspicious behaviour to us by email on overseas.enquiries@nmc-uk.org

We require the CBT result to reflect the ability of individual candidates. To facilitate this, standardised procedures and processes for taking the CBT have been developed to prevent any candidate obtaining an unfair advantage.

To ensure the result of the CBT fairly reflects the ability of individual candidates, we reserve the right to cancel or withhold any CBT results.

CBT results may be withheld or cancelled if we consider a testing irregularity has occurred.

Testing irregularities may be but are not limited to: apparent discrepancies in or falsification of candidate identification; misconduct; or any other behaviour which violates the candidate rules or breaches the confidentiality agreement, or if the CBT results are believed to be invalid for any reason.

Invalid results

We may cancel or withhold a candidate's results if the validity of the CBT results are questioned for any reason.

If a CBT result is cancelled or invalidated without finding that the candidate engaged in irregular behaviour, the candidate may appeal the decision and/or will be offered a free re-test. An appeal is the only way a candidate can challenge our decision to take this action.

There are procedures to ensure that the operation of the test centre meets our criteria for a standardised testing environment.

On the day of the CBT

You must remain in your seat during the examination, except when authorised to leave by test centre staff. You may not change your computer terminal unless a TA directs you to do so.

Communication during the CBT

Standard examination rules apply during the CBT. Candidates sit the CBT in silence and must not communicate with others. Raise your hand if: any problems with the computer occur; you need a new note board; you need to take a break; or you need the TA for any other reason.

Please raise your hand when you have finished the CBT.

Breaks

Direct testing will last a maximum of four hours. It is important that you pace yourself during the CBT. Breaks are not scheduled during this time.

Raise your hand to request an unscheduled break, or to exit the testing room for any other reason. The TA must escort you out of the testing room. You must leave the testing room during any break from testing and you are advised to remain in the test centre during any break from testing.

If you take a break from testing, all personal items accessed (including purses and wallets) must be inspected by the TA. Any tampering of the electronic device bag provided will be reported to us. Accessing any prohibited personal items during a break from testing may result in the cancellation of your CBT results.

A palm vein scan may be taken when you leave, and again when you re-enter the testing room. If this is requested, you must comply with the TA request. When you return to the testing room the TA must resume the CBT on your computer.

After the CBT is completed

After you have completed the CBT, you will be asked to complete a brief questionnaire about your testing experience. When you have finished the questionnaire, raise your hand to summon the TA.

The TA will collect any erasable note boards and escort you from the testing room.

If you have any electronic devices in a Pearson VUE-provided bag, a TA must take the bag to be inspected and opened. Removal of devices by the candidate will result in an incident report and could lead to your examination result being cancelled.

The TA will dismiss you when all requirements are fulfilled.

If you believe there was an irregularity in the administration of your exam or that the testing conditions adversely affected your CBT result, you should notify the TA before you leave the test centre. The test centre will send an incident report to us.

Exam data is encrypted and transferred electronically to us. Do not ask the TA about exam content and/or results. If you have questions about the exam, please contact us. If you have questions about your testing session, please contact us within one week of your exam appointment.

You may ask the TA for a confidential comment sheet to provide any information about your CBT appointment at the test centre or experience of using Pearson VUE candidate services.

Results of the CBT

Once the exam is completed the result is then submitted and calculated. Test centre staff do not have access to the examination results.

Examination results will be emailed to candidates within 48 hours after taking the examination. You can also obtain your results within 48 business hours by logging in to your Pearson VUE account which you will have created when booking your exam.

Candidates will receive a Pass or Fail result. Any further feedback on test results cannot be disclosed to candidates. This is to ensure that the integrity of the test is protected and any future attempts to sit the test are not aided.

How many times can I sit the CBT?

You must receive authorisation (ATT) to take the test from us before you can book and pay for your exam with Pearson VUE.

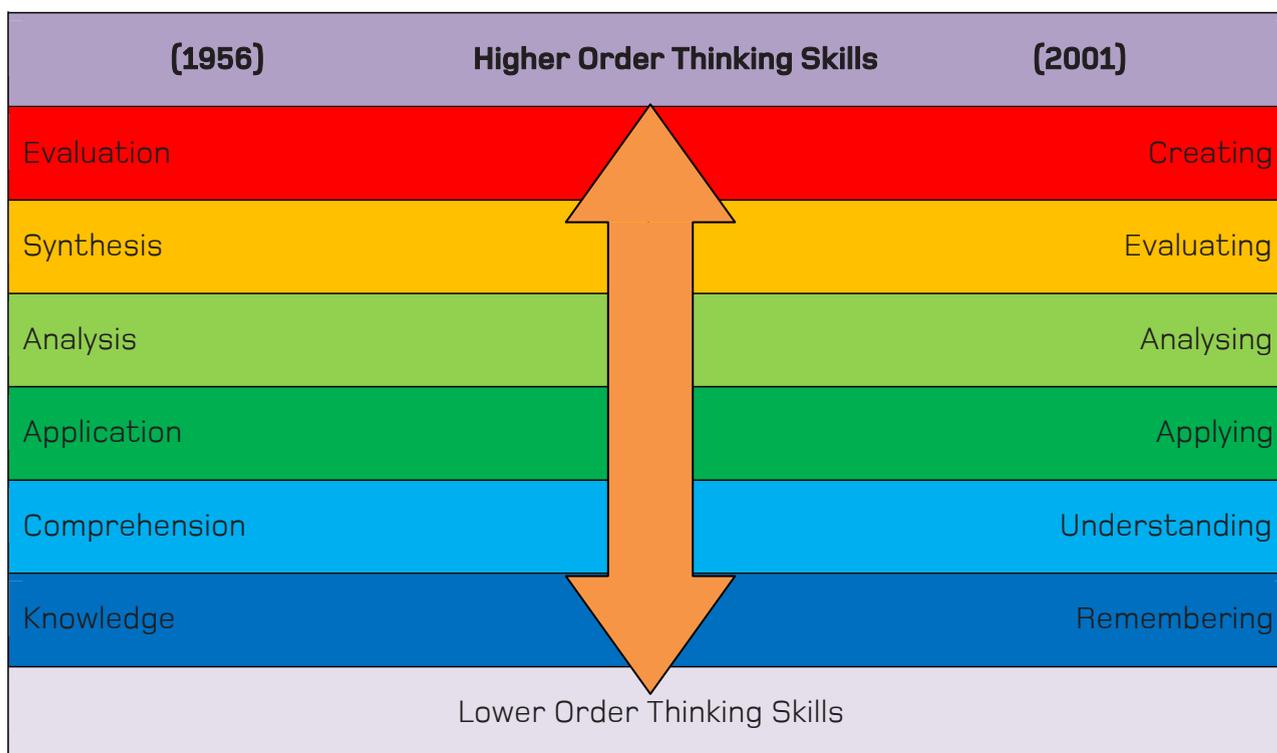

You may sit the CBT up to three times as part of one application, with a minimum of 10 days between each sitting.

If you are unsuccessful after your permitted attempts, your application will close. You'll be required to submit a new application and will not be able to sit the CBT again for a minimum of six months.

At the moment, if you are unsuccessful at your second CBT attempt, the application will close. In order to be able take your third CBT attempt, you'll need to email us at overseas.enquiries@nmc-uk.org to request this.

Content and development of the CBT

The practice of nursing or midwifery requires knowledge of the health needs of patients as well as an understanding of integrated holistic processes fundamental to professional practice. The CBT includes items written at various cognitive levels, which are designed to test your knowledge, comprehension, application, analysis, synthesis and evaluation of professional nursing and midwifery practice.

The majority of items tested in the CBT are written at the level of knowledge, comprehension and application. Higher order skills are tested more comprehensively in part 2 of the test of competence, the OSCE.

The entry-level domains, competencies and essential skills clusters from pre-2018 standards for pre-registration nursing education and current standards for pre-registration midwifery education, along with The Code: Professional standards of practice and behaviour for nurses, midwives and nursing associates (NMC, 2018) were used to develop the test blue prints.

Question writers are academic and practising nurses and midwives. These questions are then reviewed and quality assured by an expert editorial panel to ensure each item reflects current entry-level nursing or midwifery practice and that each item is accurate and valid.

All items used in the CBT for assessing competence have been pre-tested as valid and reliable.

Each CBT will be standardised in overall level of difficulty to ensure an equal experience for all candidates taking the test.

We strongly advise all candidates to spend time preparing for the test of competence. All professional examinations require in-depth preparation, revision and reflection on current skills and knowledge which may require further development.

The test of competence blue prints also provide some useful links to materials available online which may help you prepare for the CBT. Our website is a useful resource and candidates should explore it. We do not recommend a specific text book or endorse any preparation materials, training or educational establishment offering such courses or materials.

Domains tested in the nursing CBT

Nursing in the UK is organised around specific and distinct professional fields of practice. Individuals are usually registered in a single specialist field and have undertaken three years of pre-registration education and training in their specific field. These fields are:

- Adult nursing
- Children's nursing
- Learning disabilities nursing
- Mental health nursing

Each of these fields is specifically tested by a distinct CBT and candidates will only sit the CBT for the professional field of practice in which they are seeking UK registration.

The standards for competence which identify the knowledge, skills and attitudes required for entry into each field of nursing are organised around four generic nursing domains. Each of these domains is represented proportionally in the CBT. These domains are identified in the test blueprints for each nursing pathway. Please select the appropriate nursing pathway from the NMC website.

Nursing CBT plan

Generic nursing domains, generic competencies and essential skill clusters
Domains	Percentage of items from each domain included in the CBT
1. Professional values	Approximately 27%
2. Communication and interpersonal skills	Approximately 10%
3. Nursing practice and decision making	Approximately 33%
4. Leadership, management and team working	Approximately 13%
Unique and specific nursing field competencies within each domain	Approximately 17%

The structure of the nursing CBT

The nursing CBT is made up of 120 multiple choice questions. These questions must be completed in a maximum of four hours.

50 questions will relate to generic nursing competencies found in each domain of nursing.

50 questions will be the application of generic nursing competencies to the specific field of nursing being applied for, for example, as applied to the adult, child, person with a learning disability or person with a mental health problem.

20 questions will focus solely on the specific competencies required for the field of nursing being applied for.

Answering the questions

Maintain a reasonable pace, spending a maximum of two minutes on each item.

Always select the answer you believe to be the 'most' correct from the options offered.

You can review answers and change them if you wish. The CBT does not use negative scoring if a question is not answered or answered incorrectly.

Domains tested in the midwifery CBT

In the UK, midwifery is a unique and separate area of practice which requires three years of specific higher education and training. Midwives seeking registration in the UK will sit the specific CBT for midwifery.

The CBT is based on the Standards for pre-registration midwifery education (NMC, 2009) and The Code: Professional standards of practice and behaviour for nurses, midwives and nursing associates (NMC, 2018) and both were used to develop the test blueprints. The test blueprints are listed under the midwifery pathway on the NMC website.

The four domains, associated competencies and essential skill clusters were used to develop the blue print. Each of the domains is represented proportionately in the CBT.

Midwifery CBT plan

Domains with associated competencies and essential skills
Domains	Percentage of items from each domain included in the CBT
1. Effective midwifery practice	Approximately 50%
2. Professional and ethical practice	Approximately 28%
3. Developing the individual midwife and others	Approximately 7%
4. Achieving quality care through evaluation and others	Approximately 15%

Structure of the midwifery CBT

The midwifery CBT is made up of 120 questions and these must be completed in a maximum of four hours.

60 questions will focus on general theoretical and technical instruction for midwives.

60 questions will assess subjects specific to the activities of midwives.

Answering the questions

Maintain a reasonable pace by spending no more than two minutes on each item. Always select the answer you believe to be the 'most' correct from the options offered.

You can review answers and change them if you wish. The CBT does not use negative scoring if a question is not answered or answered incorrectly.

The passing standard

From 5 April 2019, the decision as to whether a candidate passes or fails the CBT is governed by an overall pass mark. This means that candidates must achieve the overall pass mark for their exam to pass the CBT.

Each CBT exam has its own overall pass mark, which is set in advance by a panel of nursing and midwifery experts to reflect the combined average pass mark of all questions in the exam.

The differences between the overall pass marks for the separate CBT exams reflect the difference in difficulty of individual questions within the exam.

No exam is easier or harder to pass and all exams are benchmarked against the same expected performance of nurses and midwives at the point of entry to the UK register who can demonstrate safe and effective practice.

We will review the passing standard on a regular basis to check it meets this criteria, taking into account the performance of previous candidates.

Current overall pass marks

CBT exam	Required overall pass mark
Adult nursing	68%
Mental health nursing	72%
Learning and disability nursing	71%
Children's nursing	71%
Midwifery	63%
